OpenWorks Awarded Contract at Top-Notch Restaurant

Seattle, Washington (June 2008) – When Ruth's Chris Steak House, the world's largest fine dining company, started seeking a new commercial cleaning provider for its Seattle, Washington location, OpenWorks was immediately responsive to Ruth's Chris facility needs. The OpenWorks service team is responsible for the upkeep of over 10,249 square feet and must maintain the high standards a top-notch establishment like Ruth's Chris is accustomed to.

"OpenWorks commitment to consistent professional service, our expertise in the commercial cleaning industry and our approach to environmentally safe products used in the cleaning and maintenance of their restaurant helped to build this relationship," said Christina Arner, Washington Regional Director.

About Ruth's Chris Steakhouse

Ruth Fertel opened her first restaurant in 1965 on Broad Street in New Orleans. Ruth's Chris Steak House has come quite a long way in its first four decades. With locations around the world they are now known as the world's largest fine dining company.

About OpenWorks: Give Your Facility The Works

Founded in 1983, OpenWorks is a full-service commercial cleaning company that excels and thrives on the spirit of entrepreneurship supported by strong management systems. Headquartered in Phoenix, Arizona, OpenWorks is an innovative and progressive organization that currently services commercial and industrial multi-location facilities nationwide; making buildings a better and safer place to work – fulfilling an important function for businesses.

Excellence – excellence for their customers and associates. For 25 years that has been OpenWorks mission, vision and values all rolled into one. And it's what sets them apart from other cleaning companies. Rather than measuring their work against the norm, OpenWorks entrepreneurial spirit and dedication to excellence inspires them to work harder and more efficiently, resulting in being consistently ranked by The Business Journal as one of the top commercial cleaning companies in the industry. OpenWorks combination of high-quality service and dedication is what makes them the industry leader they are today.
